SOCIETY

Miss Olive Muriel Gaskill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Gaskill, 406 E. Monroe st., and Mr. B. Franklin McCuen, son of Mrs. Addie McCuen of Benton Harbor, Mich., were married Saturday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. The simple but impressive ceremony which was performed by Rev. T. W. Bellingham, pastor of the First Christian church of Benton Harbor, took place before a bank of holly and evergreen.

Miss Elizabeth Asire played the wedding march as the bride took her place. A sister of the bride, Miss Gladys Gaskill, was the only attendant. She wore a gown of white voile with yellow trimmings and carried white roses and narcissus. The bride was crowned in white marquisette and carried bride's roses.

At the reception which followed the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served by Mrs. McCuen at the home of the bride's parents.

Immediately following the luncheon served by Miss Florence Taggart, Miss Helen Davidson, Miss Elizabeth Asire and Mrs. H. Gaskill. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Addie McCuen, Miss Alice McCuen and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Thompson of Benton Harbor; Mrs. Joseph Knisley, Mrs. Henry Lee and children of Dowagiac and Mrs. J. Raymond Turner of Oakmont, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Horcin of Madison Center pleasantly entertained at a 1 o'clock dinner on New Year's day. Covers were laid for 32. Games and contests were features of the day. Music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. John Parcell and Miss Nora Horcin. Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Anna Horcin and Glenn Klein. In a bean carrying contest Miss Ethel Leslie won the prize. In a guessing contest Mrs. Ed Maur captured the prize. Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Klein and son Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. John Parcell of Mishawaka; Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Klein and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Klein and family of Tamarack, and Mrs. Overholt and family of Clay City. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Maier and daughter of Wyatt; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Horcin and daughters, and Miss Ethel Leslie of Madison Center.

Do Not Obscure Course By Tacking

Shortest Way to Success is Way Which Permits No Turning.

By Beatrice Fairfax.

Any one who knows exactly what he desires of life and who goes with reasonable directness straight toward that goal of desire is sure to make a success.

At first consideration, you may be inclined to dispute this fact, but when you consider it carefully you must see the fairness and truth of it. Suppose you honestly desire to be a power in the business world. Suppose you also desire to enjoy life in the way of dancing and drinking and dissipating your energies. You cannot do this and also keep the clear brain in the sound body that you must have to be a power in the world of finance.

Now which do you honestly desire, "a good time" or business success? Be honest with yourself, decide once for all and then go unswervingly down the path you have chosen. And you will get what you want.

If Abraham Lincoln had not passionately desired an education and the strength of mind and character that made him a world figure, his endowment of mentality and character would have been wasted.

Caesar had desired to enjoy the decadent pleasures that filled the lives of some Roman nobles he would never have been a great character of history. If all the great explorers and historians and scientists had preferred catering to people and enjoying the lesser pleasures of the senses they would not have conquered worlds.

We are all torn by conflicting desires. Some of us allow ourselves to be pulled first in one direction and then in another, and by a series of tacklings and turnings in our course we keep ourselves from seeing what is our true course.

Of course, if you don't know just what you wish to make of your life, you can hardly hope to have it a strong and consistent thing. If you desire pleasure more than you do the close devotion to your work that all worth while work demands, you will choose pleasure. But don't whine about being unlucky and never having had a fair chance—that's all.

You wouldn't expect to solve a problem in algebra while you are memorizing "The Charge of the Light Brigade" would you? You can't divide your attention if you mean to make a success of any task.

If you want to succeed in the world give your entire attention to keeping yourself efficient and doing your work. A machine that runs very well when one cylinder is not working. Neither does the "human machine" work to any advantage when it is worn out by dissipating itself on non-essentials to the task at hand.

Make up your mind as to what you desire of life—and then proceed to wrest it from life.

SERVICE IS ONE OF GREAT WORDS IN VOCABULARY OF PROFESSED CHRISTIANS

Dr. J. S. Gardiner Answers Harold Bell Wright's Criticism of Modern Church as Set Forth in Novel.

At St. Paul's Memorial Methodist Episcopal church last evening, Dr. J. S. Gardiner, D. D., spoke on Harold Bell Wright's book, "That Printer of Udell's." After telling the story of Mr. Wright in brief, Dr. Gardiner said, "I have called my theme 'The Church Under Fire,' and I will agree with me, that the subject is appropriately chosen. No one can read the book without feeling that the church of today is under the severest fire of criticism."

And now let me ask, is the criticism of Harold Bell Wright justifiable? Is it true that the man who is down and out can find more help outside the church than inside the church? Is it true that the church of today is little or no sympathy for the homeless, the friendless and the fatherless? Is it true that professing Christians go to church on Sunday and there sing hymns and offer prayers for the needy, and then fail to help when opportunity presents itself? Is it true that the service of the church is a service of the lips only, and that their worship is a mere form out of which the heart has gone? Is it true that the modern church has forgotten the words of Christ, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me?"

"I cannot believe it. I cannot believe that the criticism of Mr. Wright is wholly just. I cannot believe that the majority of preachers are of the hollow type of Mr. French, who failed to help Dick Falkner. I cannot believe that the majority of members of the church are of the character of Adam Goodrich, whose religion or rather whose lack of it, led him to drive his daughter out of his home and out of the church into the wilderness of sin."

Church in the Church.
"I do not believe for a moment that there is more charity outside of the church than inside of it. Frequently the so-called outside church giving is either directly or indirectly, the result of Christian teaching. There never was a time when the church was laying such emphasis as she is today on the importance of practical religion. The never was a time when the Christian church was doing more to relieve the suffering and bind up the wounds of humanity, than today."

And yet I am ready to admit that there is some ground for the criticism of Harold Bell Wright. The picture he draws, though not wholly true, is true in part. The church is far from living up to her privileges. She is far from doing all that she should do toward ministering toward the needs of men and women. The church has sometimes forgotten that the greatest man in the kingdom of God is the man who serves the most.

"Let us therefore learn from the story 'That Printer of Udell's,' that the religion of the Lord Jesus Christ is a religion of deeds and not merely of words. Let us learn that one of the biggest words in the Christian vocabulary is the word service. Let us as members of the church, be followers of Him who when in this world, went about doing good."

MRS. MILLER TO DISCUSS SAVING OF CHILDHOOD

South Bend Woman, Representing Indiana at National Conference, Will Take Part in Program Tuesday Evening

Mrs. W. E. Miller, appointed by Gov. Ralston to represent the state of Indiana at the 11th annual National Conference on Child Labor to be held in Washington, D. C. Tuesday and Wednesday, left for Washington Sunday evening.

Not only has Mrs. Miller been honored by the appointment, but she has also been assigned place on the program which will be participated in by people of note from all over the country. Mrs. Miller's part in the program comes Tuesday evening when with Sen. William S. Kenyon from Iowa, she will discuss "National Conservation of Childhood."

Mrs. Miller will leave Washington Thursday and return by way of Indianapolis to attend a meeting of the commission on the hours and conditions of working women of the state. She will arrive in South Bend Sunday evening probably.

"Child Labor a National Problem," has been assigned as the general topic for the conference, and this has been subdivided into several phases of the problem for specific discussion at the several sessions. Many people of national note will be present and participate in the program. Beside senators and representatives whose states have been specially concerned with the child labor question, there will be present governors of a number of states, sociological workers of wide repute, and some of the great manufacturers of the country. All the meetings will be held in the New Waldorf hotel.

The first session on Tuesday morning will be given up largely to registration and enrollment and "live reports from the field" in which those who have been actively connected with the child labor problem in all parts of the country will give 10-minute "experiences."

Dr. Kober to Preside.

Tuesday afternoon the general topic will be "Immediate Needs in Child Labor Reform." The meeting will be presided over by Dr. George M. Kober of the District of Columbia Child Labor committee, and those participating in the discussion will include among others: Mrs. Florence Kelley, New York secretary of the National Consumers' league; Dr. Edward T. Devine, National school of philanthropy; Dr. Devine will speak on "The European War and American Children."

"The Federal Child Labor Bill" will be the general topic Tuesday evening, and Dr. Felix Adler of the National Child Labor committee will preside and give the annual chairman's address. Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer, representative from Pennsylvania, will speak on "The Constitutionality of a Federal Child Labor Law." Hon. William S. Kenyon, senator from Iowa, and Mrs. W. E. Miller will speak on "National Conservation of Childhood."

History, Kober of the Plimpton Press, Norwood, Mass., "The Effect of Uniform Labor Standards on Interstate Competition." W. H. Swift and Owen R. Lovejoy will also speak.

To Discuss Charter.
Among the closing phases of the subject, "Child Labor Today," which will be the topic for Wednesday morning, will be Dr. A. J. McKelway, Washington, D. C., southern secretary of the National Child Labor committee; Hon. M. J. McMahon, Little Rock, deputy commissioner of bureau of labor and statistics of Arkansas; John Mitchell of New York.

"Needed—A National Children's Charter" will be given 10-minute discussions by representatives of organizations and activities for the welfare of children, Homer Folks of New York State Charities Aid association, presiding.

The closing session Wednesday evening will be a discussion of "The Child, a Ward of the Nation," by Jane Addams, Chicago Hull House; Thomas I. Parkington, New York, legislative drafting, Bureau of Columbia University; W. H. Matthe, president Baltimore City club; Julia C. Lathrop, Washington, D. C.; Hon. Victor Murdock, representative from Kansas; Hon. Robert L. Owen, senator from Oklahoma.

Wonderful Skin and Wrinkle Removers

The method of removing had complexion by absorption seems to have come into general use in this country. Ordinary mottled wax, applied nightly like cold cream and caused morning with warm water, gradually absorbed the coarse, faded or discolored outer film skin in almost invisible particles. Soon there is a brand new complexion formed by the younger, healthier under-skin. No cosmetic or artificial treatment can possibly produce a complexion of such radiant, youthful loveliness. Druggists all have mercurized wax; it is reported that more than one ounce is necessary.

Thousands have also enjoyed great success with the famous saxolite wrinkle-removing formula. One ounce of pure powdered saxolite is dissolved in a half-pint which hazel and the solution used as a face wash. The effect is almost magical. The deepest wrinkles and crow's feet, as well as the finest lines—whether due to age, illness, weather or worry—completely and quickly vanish. No one need hesitate to try this simple loveliness. It won't harm any skin. Adv.
